In The 215th Judicial District Court Of Harris County, Texas
The State Of Texas
County Of Harris

Notice to Defendant: "You have been sued. You may employ an attorney. If you or your attorney do not file a written answer with the clerk who issued this citation by 10:00 a.m. on the Monday next following the expiration of forty-two days after the date of issuance of this citation and petition, a default judgment may be taken against you."

In the name and by the authority of the State of Texas, notice is hereby given as follows:

To: Stephanie Perez and any and all other persons, including adverse claimants, owing or having or claiming any legal or equitable interest in or lien upon the following described property delinquent to plaintiff herein for taxes, to-wit: Lot Four (4), Block Ten (10), In Elmwood Addition By The City Of Houston, In Harris County, Texas, According To The Map Thereof Recorded In Volume 18, Page 45 Of The Map Records Of Harris County, Texas

Which said property is delinquent to Plaintiff for taxes in the following amounts: $44,322.00, exclusive of interest, penalties, and costs, and there is included in this suit in addition to the taxes all said interest, penalties, and costs thereon, allowed by law up to and including the day of judgment herein.

You are hereby notified that suit has been brought by Ovation Service, LLC, as Plaintiffs, against Stephanie Perez, Jose Ramon Zuniga, And Charles Simmons (In Rem) as Defendants, by petition filed on the 9th day of March, 2020 in a certain suit styled Ovation Service, LLC vs. Stephanie Perez for collection of the taxes on said property and that said suit is now pending in the District Court of Harris County, Texas, 215th Judicial District, and the file number of said suit is 2020-15807 that the names of all taxing units which assess and collect taxes on the property hereinabove described, not made parties to this suit are City Of Houston, Houston ISD, Harris County, Harris County Flood Control, Houston Port Authority, Harris County Hospital District, Harris County Education Department, Houston Community College District.

Plaintiff and all other taxing units who may set up their tax claims herein seek recovery of delinquent ad valorem taxes on the property hereinabove described, and in addition to the taxes all interest, penalties, and costs allowed by law thereon up to and including the day of judgment herein, and the establishment and foreclosure of liens, if any, securing the payment of same, as provided by law.

All parties to this suit, including plaintiff, defendants, and intervenors, shall take notice that claims not only for any taxes which were delinquent on said property at the time this suit was filed but all taxes becoming delinquent thereon at any time thereafter up to the day of judgment, including all interest, penalties, and costs allowed by law thereon may, upon request therefor be recovered herein without further citation or notice to any parties herein, and all said parties shall take notice of and plead and answer to all claims and pleadings now on file and which may hereafter be filed in said cause by all other parties herein and those taxing units above named who may intervene herein and set up their respective tax claims against said property.

You are hereby commanded to appear and defend such suit on the first Monday after the expiration of forty-two (42) days from and after the date of issuance hereof, the same being the 23rd day of May, 2022 (which is the return day of such citation), before the honorable District Court of Harris County, Texas, to be held at the courthouse thereof, then and there to show cause why judgment shall not be rendered for such taxes, penalties, interest, and costs, and condemning said property and ordering foreclosure of the constitutional and statutory tax liens thereon for taxes due the plaintiff and the taxing units parties hereto, and those who may intervene herein, together with all interest, penalties, and costs allowed by law up to and including the day of judgment herein and all costs of this suit.

social experiment, said Adam Galinsky, a social psychologist at Columbia Business School who coined the term "enclothed cognition," or how what people wear affects how they think.

"My guess is that it will go more casual, but maybe it doesn't," Galinsky said. "People are going to be consciously thinking about: 'Am I wearing the right outfit for being in the office?' They're going to be thinking about what they're doing, the context they're in, and the social comparisons of what others will be doing."

Steve Smith, CEO of outdoor sportswear brand L.L. Bean, said people are stepping out of their "typical uniform" — whatever form that may take.

"They're going to expect more flexible hours, to be able to work in hybrid model, and to be comfortable — as comfortable as they were at home," he said. "Some of the office uniforms, office wardrobes, are shifting and changing. There's no reason why it can't be permanent."

Data from market research firm NPD Group and retailers reflect the shifting trends.

Wire-free bras now represent more than 50% of the total, non-sports bra market in the U.S., reversing a long-term trend, according to NPD. Sales of dressy footwear have been rebounding since 2021, but they're still 34% below 2019 levels and more likely fueled by the return of social occasions, not the office, NPD said. Instead, casual sneakers are now the most common shoes for work.

Clothing rental company Rent the Runway said rentals for blazers were up nearly twofold in February from last year, reflecting a return to offices. But its customers are choosing colorful versions like pastel and fabrics like lightweight tweed, linens and twill. It said "business formal" rentals — traditional workwear like basic sheaths, pencil skirts and blazers — are roughly half of what they were in 2019, said Anushka Salinas, president and chief operating officer.

Stitch Fix, a personal shopping and styling service, noted men are increasingly choosing options like hiking and golf pants for the office. For the first three months of the year, revenue for that type of clothing was up nearly threefold over a year ago.

Polo shirts have replaced the collared button-down for men, and there's strong demand for pull-on pants, the company said. The ratio of elastic-waist work pants to those with buttons or zippers on Stitch Fix was one to one in 2019; now it's three to one.

the two-masted wooden schooner have been brought to the surface, researchers have found that most of the ship — including the pen that was used to imprison the captives — remains intact on the river bottom.

Working with the state and SEARCH Inc., Resolve Marine said it will perform work including an assessment of the Clotilda's hull and a limited excavation of artifacts. It's also developing a plan to conserve the wreckage where it's currently located in the river a few miles north of Mobile.

The work, which is being funded with a $1 million state appropriation, "will add to the collective understanding of the vessel and the site's potential to yield significant archaeological information about the ship and its final voyage," Jozsef said.

manent, while expanding it across the state.

State Sen. Robert Hertzberg, who wrote the bill that would expand the program, estimates that about 10% of homeless Californians have pets. And the reason many shelters don't accept animals is simply because they don't have resources to care for them, said Hertzberg, a dog owner.

He called pets "our comfort" and cited research that found animals provide companionship and a sense of purpose to people who don't have housing.

The Democrat from Los Angeles said it's just "raging common sense" to give nonprofits and other caregivers the budgets they need to feed and house pets, especially considering how much California already allocates to address the statewide homelessness crisis.

"We're spending a billion dollars over here to get people off the street; why can't we spend a few dollars over there to put together veterinary services and dog food and crates? These are grants of between $100,000 and $200,000, so it's not a ton of money in the grand scheme of things," Hertzberg said.
